BIOGRAPHY

Olivier Osty

Executive Head of Global Markets
BNP Paribas

Olivier Osty is Executive Head of Global Markets for BNP Paribas worldwide, based in London.

Olivier joined the BNP Paribas in its Tokyo office in 1991, where he worked in the bank's equities business in Tokyo, subsequently leading the bank's equity options and trading business in Europe in 1995. Following his appointment as Global Head of Equity Derivatives Options Trading in 2000, BNP Paribas became a world leader in options trading.

He was named Global Head of Trading, Research and Structuring since 2004, and then Deputy Head of Equity Derivatives in 2007, with a mandate to run all trading activity, including quantitative research and risk. In 2010, the unit grew further to become Global Equities and Commodity Derivatives (GECD).

In 2014, Olivier was appointed Head of Sales and Trading of the Bank's newly-formed Global Markets division, which brought together Rates, FXLM and Primary and Credit with the GECD business. Olivier has been Executive Head of Global Markets since 2016.
